

CPhI North America

a preview

Pharma trade show returns to Philadelphia

After a successful inaugural year, the second annual CPhI North America Conference will take place April 24-26 at the Pennsylvania Convention Center, Philadelphia, PA. Organizers anticipate more than 7,400 pharmaceutical professionals representing 43 countries to attend. Approximately 635 exhibitors will show their products, technologies, and services on the 93,500-square-foot exhibition floor.

This year's technical conference offers three tracks, two of which will explore pharmaceutical manufacturing, outsourcing, R&D, drug delivery, and supply chain topics. The third track is dedicated to recent advancements in bio-manufacturing. Combined, these tracks offer more than 40 hours of educational content. Featured topics include working with CDMOs to expedite formulations, formulating safer opioids, finished drug scale-up strategies, and controlling manufacturing quality and containment of high-potency drugs.

Admission to CPhI also gives attendees access to several co-located expositions: InformEx (fine and specialty chemicals), ICSE (contract research and development), InnoPack (packaging), BioPh (biopharmaceuticals), P-MEC (pharmaceutical equipment), and FDF (finished drug formulations).

The following companies and organizations are among those exhibiting at CPhI North America 2018. For a complete, updated list, visit www.cphi-northamerica.com.
