

CPhI North America

a preview

Hybrid event to offer three weeks of learning opportunities

CPhI North America, a pharmaceutical trade show and conference, will be a hybrid event this year and will take place online from July 26-August 6 and in person from August 10-12, with the in-person event occurring at the Pennsylvania Convention Center in Philadelphia, PA.

This year's conference will feature three content tracks: US market insights, product innovation, and future forecasting, diversity, equality, and inclusion. The online program will also include networking opportunities. Education session topics include lessons learned from the pandemic, sustainability, well-being at work, and diversity and inclusion.

The in-person event will allow attendees to source products and services from vendors, network with other pharmaceutical professionals, and see the latest industry innovations. Expo hall exhibitors will be organized into seven unique zones: drug development, manufacturing ingredients, fine and specialty chemicals, bioprocessing, machinery, packaging, and finished drug products.
